

When the World is in Bloom Know What Poisons May Loom

Swimming pool chemicals can be dangerous if mixed together. Keep chemicals in their original bottles, up and away from children and pets.

Teach children to avoid touching or eating wild mushrooms, berries, or plants they find outdoors.

When using insect repellent, keep it away from the eyes and mouth. Remember to wash off bug spray once indoors.

Read and follow instructions when using lawn and garden chemicals.

Before spraying, pick up children's and pets' toys, and wear protective gear.

Almost anything can be poisonous if it's used in the wrong way, in the wrong amount, or by the wrong person. If you suspect a poisoning, don't take a chance. Call 1-800-222-1222.
